CARRIER COMPLAINT EFFORTS

DSL Internet Corporation has worked in good faith to communicate with customers impacted by this order. As of September 29th 2005, the following reflects DSL Internet's initiatives, plans and continued actions to comply with this order:

#1: DSL Internet has sent email notifications to all impacted subscribers advising customers of the 911 limitations and contact information for further information. Letters have also been sent to these customers with return address envelopes mandating clients to affirm their understanding of the 911 services offered by DSLi and detailing consequences for non-compliance. On a weekly basis DSLi has sent follow up letters and e-mails to all non-respondents and followed through with calls and voicemails from DSLi representatives.

#2: DSL Internet has requisitioned the production of notification stickers to be distributed to all customers by quantity of devices per location to be placed on each device indicating the limitation of VoIP 911 capabilities. The stickers invites the customers to call a company contact number for further information. DSL Internet Corporation is distributing these stickers to all customers impacted who have responded via US post. Customers have already been notified to expect these warning labels in the notification letters and e-mails sent as per #1.

#3: As previously noted, DSLi expects to have received affirmation confirmations from over 90% of its impacted customers prior to 25th October. As such, DSLi expects to be in a position to take advantage of the further guidance released on 27th September and not have to disconnect customers who have not replied. However, DSLi will continue to pursue affirmations from such customers with the threat of potential disruption of services for non-compliance.
